WHAT ARE THE PROSPECTS FOR OUR FUTURE?

Every generation has faced challenges. Our challenges today are numerous, complex and impact our mental health and well-being in dramatic ways. On average, one in four adults suffers from a diagnosable mental disorder in a given year. Now, add in the effects of our global world – military families dealing with dynamic, changing structures as individual members leave, often repeatedly, for active duty; the re-integration of families; the economic challenges changing our daily lives; the increase in violence; epidemics; natural disasters; and, our aging populations who are open to many health challenges which also confront their families. No one is immune from having to face these and other ‘tests of endurance’ and you have the ability to touch their lives in ways that many cannot!

Be prepared for these and other challenges....join your professional colleagues at GENERATIONS 2009 to increase your knowledge of the behavioral health and substance abuse issues facing your clients and today’s society. Be able to develop and implement effective programs and strategies – in your practices / programs and in communities.

By attending this program, you will be able to:

- Gain effective working tools to properly intervene in these issues;
- Develop strategies to more effectively promote the healthy growth and development of individuals in all developmental stages;
- Familiarize yourself with current resources and resource needs; and,
- Gain tools to mobilize and to develop and implement prevention and intervention programs in public and private sectors to:

Ultimately improve clinical practices and client care.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Why travel long distances and pay extra expenses when one of the highest quality, professional training programs is here in the west for a nominal amount? GENERATIONS 2009 will provide you with a VARIETY OF TRAINING OPTIONS which explore PERTINENT ISSUES facing you on a daily basis in your practice. The 2009 Planning Committee carefully reviewed your feedback and responded to your requests. All faculty have been asked to provide you with HANDS-ON TOOLS in SKILL-BUILDING workshops. Outside of the sessions, you will benefit from ABUNDANT NETWORKING OPPORTUNITIES with faculty, colleagues, a select number of exhibitors and other resources. All EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICES and PRACTICE-BASED EVIDENCE will be presented to you in a COMFORTABLE, SPACIOUS ENVIRONMENT.

This year you may have an incredible opportunity to enter an interactive traveling exhibit - "TARGET AMERICA" which explores the damaging effects of illegal drugs on the mind and body. Enter a jungle cocaine lab, an Afghan heroin factory and toxic meth hotel "cook room". View actual wreckage from a drug related car accident, a tenement crack house, and the environment of a teen that has accessed a website selling illegal drugs. (final confirmation pending)

ERIC NEWHOUSE has earned his reputation as a crusading journalist, winning the Pulitzer Prize in 2000 for "Alcohol: Cradle to Grave". He's seen what he refers to as the flotsam and jetsam of human life: the divorces, lost jobs, battered wives and children, crime, drunken drivers, car wrecks, and medical bills. And, he's come to the conclusion that alcohol is behind much of it. This compelling, day-in-the-life look at the disease of alcoholism was also honored by the NAADAC; the Society of Addiction Professionals; the Research Society on Alcoholism; and NAATP, the National Association of Addiction Treatment Providers.

In addition to keynoting many of these organization's meetings, Mr. Newhouse has delivered keynote programs to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Press Institute, the National Writers Workshops and others. Now, through personal, in-depth interviews, Mr. Newhouse has seen the devastation caused by PTSD from the Iraq and Afghanistan wars and the ongoing trauma for veterans from Vietnam and other American conflicts. Mr. Newhouse's crusade is to get the young men and women who have served their country the help that they need. GENERATIONS 2009 is honored that Mr. Newhouse has accepted our invitation to share his insights in Utah and to add us to his select group of keynoted organizations.

The overall faculty line-up for 2009 is phenomenal! You will be enthralled with presentations from a wide variety of faculty who will address important issues from scientific and clinical perspectives as well as from personal voyages. One such riveting personal perspective is from invited guest PATRICK KENNEDY, son of U S Senator Ted Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy has openly admitted to a prescription medication addiction and is very open in sharing his compelling story. Congressman Kennedy has been an outspoken advocate for more efficient and better health care coverage and in the passing of mental health parity. (Appearance pending 2009 Government schedules.)

Because of his recent impact on a group of professionals in Utah, JOE PARKS, MD, Chief Clinical Officer & CPS Division Director for the Missouri Department of Mental Health has been summoned back for GENERATIONS to present a new and unique view of mental illness, metabolic disorders, and integrated healthcare. Similarly, JAMES FLOWERS, PhD, Director of Pain Management for nationally renowned Sierra Tucson will also be sharing amazing professional insights and research findings which can effect your clinical practice related to pain and mental health disorders. The federal Drug Enforcement Agency has also been invited to join GENERATIONS with shocking news around substance trends and abuse. This amazing caliber of leaders will permeate all tracks of the conference. Then, closing the program will be high-spirited and humorous presentation by MATT TOWNSEND, one of America's top presenters in the field of human relations and development. Matt will blend humor and story telling with interactive, real-life solutions that inspire motivation and immediate results from audiences all around.

Enrich your practice - join GENERATIONS 2009 for one of the most impactful, professional conferences around!!
